WE NOMINATE

Ann Clayton (Mrs. Jacques P. Jr.) Honore, described by one observer as "a public servant in the most vital sense of the term" and by another as a "singularly effective administrator," who returns to TOWN TOPICS' cover as the newly named executive of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross. In her 12th year as a Red Cross staff member, this 44-year old Princetonian becomes the pivotal figure in the year-round operations of New Jersey's oldest Red Cross Chapter which reaches out to 11 municipalities, has nearly 900 volunteers enrolled in a dozen different service programs and proudly points to a total of some 16,600 individual members.

For over a decade Mrs. Honore's name has been synonymous with the Princeton Blood Donor Service, the splendid undertaking jointly sustained since 1949 by Princeton Hospital and the Princeton Chapter to serve the needs of all patients at the Hospital. Now in the summer of 1967 she is playing a commensurately important role in the development of the newly launched Princeton Red Cross Blood Program — Group Plan, co-sponsored by the Red Cross and the Princeton Personnel Association, strengthening the Blood Donor Service and providing "total blood coverage wherever they may be"! for the 10,000-plus employees of the 30 participating companies.

As the Princeton Area has boomed and has attracted one enterprise after another, Red Cross activities have increased and broadened to the degree that it is remarkable how aware Mrs. Honore is of every facet of her Chapter's "field operations." Whether planning the monthly visitation of the Bloodmobile, the heart of the Group Blood Plan, or the Youth Program's summer contributions to the Mercer Unit of the Retarded Children's Center in Trenton, she knows that the former has attracted 89 Princeton volunteers and that 32 youngsters are involved in the latter.

A member of a well-known Princeton family, and the youngest of three children, Mrs. Honore was graduated from Princeton High School with the Class of 1939 and completed professional secretarial training in New York City. Two years as one of Princeton's "early-time commuters" from the Junction to Manhattan, where she was affiliated with a public relations concern, were followed in succession by a year with the Princeton Bank and Trust, her house-hunting activities as the first woman employee of Princeton's RCA Laboratories, and the founding and direction for a period of several years of one of Princeton's most efficient secretarial services.

Mrs. Honore, whose husband is a veteran staff member of RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center, is understandably proud of the way in which her family, including upcoming seniors at Glassboro State College and Princeton High School, has shared her incredible after-hours regimen. Once an avid gardener, an avocation she had to forego for the Red Cross, and now an enthusiastic fisherman looking forward to the Honores' occasional excursions to their retreat in Sea Isle City, Cape May County, she invariably sets aside any personal interests to discuss such ventures as the Christmastime "Voice from Home" for servicemen in Vietnam, the assembling of 200 Vietnam "Dirty Bags," and the achievements of her Chapter's Water Safety and First Aid Programs.

For meriting advancement to a post for which she is so admirably trained and gaited; for bringing to her responsibilities the same kind of enthusiasm and devotion the Red Cross elicits from its volunteers; for her contributions as a practical, and practicing, humanist, she is our nominee as

BACK IN 1917, the year the United States entered World War I, Orren Jack Turner took this parade photo at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets, near his studio. It is believed that the parade was either a July Fourth celebration or for a war bond rally. The firm, marking its 50th anniversary this month, has compiled an unusual photographic record of Princeton, its people and many of its famous visitors. Story this page.

This Is PRINCETON

DISTINGUISHED MEN And Elegant Women. Fifty years ago this month, the modest sign "Orren Jack Turner, Photographer" appeared at 68 Nassau Street, marking a one-room beginning over Henry P. Clayton's drygoods store.

Spanning the era from flash powder to Strobe lights, the studio's significant anniversary will go unobserved. The sign, a famous signature today throughout the East, is about to disappear from Nassau Street, forced out by rising cost of space in Princeton Borough's cramped business district.

"My partner and I can't afford $10,000 rental. It puts our costs up too high," Orren Jack Turner Jr. said this week. "It is getting to be a case of either you can afford to stay here or you move!"

Princeton's distinguished citizens, its bright-faced youth and the great and near-great of the world have tramped on the stairs at 112 Nassau, where the Turner studios have been located for the past 40 years.

The portraits of Einstein, Amelia Earhart, Bliss Carmen, Tagore, Marshall Foch, Cardinals Mercier and Gibbons and Princeton University presidents share space along the walls with portraits of bankers, dreaming brides, elegant women, winsome children and ethereal ballerinas.

In the Dark Days of 17. The studio, founded when Orren Jack Turner was 28, in the midst of the profound unrest of World War I, and carried on by his son since the close of World War II, is now photographing the young Princetonians involved in the Vietnam War. The children and grandchildren of early patrons are loyal visitors to the studio.

"Your father," an elderly woman said to Orren Jack Turner last week, "took these pictures of my sons." She showed him portraits of three young men in their early twenties. "They are grandfathers now, and I think they'd like to have the pictures."

The studio is still using the 11 x 14 portrait camera with a 16" long-focus lens that Orren Jack Turner Sr. received from the Army during World War I in trade for an Eastman Kodak lens. His son several years ago sent the lens to be coated. "They said to me, 'what, that antique? What can you do with it?'"

"So I sent them samples of what that lens can do: 100 people in a group, with each face absolutely clear; a bridal portrait, a silver tray and a portrait of a man. This one lens could keep me in business. I know exactly how far I can push it. There's no distortion as long as you watch your distance. It gives beautiful drawing."

Changing Trends. On the walls, the portraits reflect the changing trends of photography, yet each picture is obviously a Turner photograph. There's the low key approach of the Twenties, with its single source of light.

"We don't use black backgrounds with children's pictures any more. Of course that was the era of dark homes, too, but it represents a very romantic style," the younger Mr. Turner says, browsing around.

PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON and his second wife returned to Princeton to vote and Orren Jack Turner caught this picture near Blair Arch. The gentleman in the derby next to the president is thought to be Dean H. B. Fine.

The portraits taken during the Thirties have a slightly diffused, or gentled, image, while the World War II era is marked by a sharper focus. In recent years, the technique still growing, changing, many of the portraits show a higher key, often a brilliance in lighting.

There's a quotation the younger Turner has saved: "No matter how much it has been improved since the days of Daguerre, the camera is never as important as the taste of the man who uses it." This is a philosophy that both Turners have taken to heart.

"A Turn of the Head." A portrait is not a map of the features," the younger Mr. Turner says, "although it may often be that when people haven't anything in their faces. It should be revealing of one or more aspects of that person . . . I could give you a lecture on just what the turn of a head does to the viewers' impression of the subject. A backward tilt to a man's head, for instance, makes him look feminine.

"There are some people whose faces are completely shut. It's like a wall between us. Part of the job of portraiture is trying to bring people up over the wall. Psychology is 90% of this profession."

The senior Turner preferred photographing men. His son, partially blaming the heavy schedules of today's businessmen, prefers photographing women who have a little more time.

"The biggest change that I've noticed," he says, "is that people are more businesslike—except brides or mothers of six children who know they're going to be here for an hour and a half. People used to have time to be more gracious. Seldom a week went by that my father didn't get a letter of appreciation from someone.

"I think that women are more beautiful today, but their clothes are ugly. Women as a group are less modest about their bodies, but they are also less graceful. A woman used to be trained how to sit, to be aware of how she looked as she went into a drawing room."

How It Began. The senior Turner, now 78 and living at the New Jersey shore, began his career working for the famous theatrical photographer, White, in New York City. Sent to Princeton on an assignment to photograph the senior class at the University, he decided to settle here.

For a while White maintained a studio in Princeton, but a year after the elder Turner went into business for himself, "Pappy and White agreed there wasn't room for both of them, and White sold out to my father."

The studio moved next door to the Nassau Inn at 62 Nassau Street in 1921 and in 1927 to the present building, built by Orren Jack Turner Sr. The Turner children grew up in the house on the Princeton-Kingston Road now occupied by attorney Thomas P. Cook.

In 1932 Jacob B. Lutz joined the company as an apprentice technician. He ultimately took over the darkroom management. He married Ruth Turner, and in 1946 became a partner of the two Turners. A fine craftsman, he also has taken charge of the candid camera work at weddings.

"Darkroom work is an adjunct," say Mr. Turner. "It shouldn't hail you out. When I say to Jake I want a good, rich print, it comes down just great!"

About 1947, the senior Turner began to retire. "Father gradually eased out. Today he's registrar and assessor of the little town where he lives. He's very active. I'm very lucky," his son comments, adding, "Father was very revered in the profession."

Where to Go? Speaking regretfully of his efforts since last December to find a new location in Princeton, Mr. Turner says, "I am seriously considering moving to Trenton because I have explored Lawrenceville, Kingston and Routes 1 and 206, but there doesn't seem to be anything in Princeton Borough or Township with enough space.

"Princeton has always been small specialty shops, but it is getting to the point that there is room for nothing else. Never since father sold this

CAR RULE MODIFIED

For University Students. One of Princeton University's most celebrated rules, the 40-year-old restriction against undergraduates operating automobiles in Princeton, has been substantially modified by the University's board of trustees.

Beginning in September, any student meeting certain requirements will be permitted to keep a car on campus for use outside the Borough and Township of Princeton. A letter concerning the trustees' decision has been sent to the University's 3,400 undergraduates by Dean of Students William D'O. Lippincott.

"This is to advise you," the letter states, "that the Board of Trustees of the University, at its June 1967, meeting, approved modification of the regulations pertaining to use of motor vehicles so as to permit undergraduates to maintain and operate a motor vehicle while college is in session." The authorization will apply on a year-to-basis, and be subject to annual review.

Reasons for Change. Spelling out the reasons for the modification of the rule, Mr. Lippincott said, "We have all felt for quite some time that the automobile has become a part of the fabric of society, and this includes college-age people. It didn't seem sensible or sound to continue banning the use of cars.

"We have always tried to give as much responsibility to students as we can," Mr. Lippincott continued. "To deny students the right to use a car seems to be quite inconsistent with this policy."

Mr. Lippincott also commented that considering this student generation, "the ban on cars did create a certain degree of isolation for students trying to get into New York or to girls' colleges."

There has been pressure from the student body for a change in the rule for the past few years. The Daily Princetonian has waged an editorial campaign against the rule over the last quarter-century, attacking it with increasing frequency in the past five years.

The amendment still prohibits students from using cars on Borough and Township streets, except those designated by the University for entering and leaving the Princeton area. These include Faculty Road and Alexander nr Washington and Harrison streets between Faculty and Route 1. Students wishing to use Route 206 north must use Harrison and Ewing streets.

Parking facilities. Parking for student vehicles will be limited to a lot south of Baker Rink, bordered by Faculty Road and the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks. The University will enlarge the lot this summer to accommodate about 800 cars.

John P. Moran, director of planning, plant and properties, said the University estimated that about 25% of the students would bring back cars. This figure was named after checking with other universities with locations similar to Princeton's. With an enrollment of almost 3200 students, this means about 800 automobiles.

If still more space is needed, Mr. Moran pointed out that land across Faculty Road could be turned into a parking area for 300 more cars.

An annual fee of $50 for registration and parking will be charged by the University. In registering his car a student must also present a valid driver's license and car registration, proof of insurance coverage, and written parental permission if he is under 21.

Prof. David C. Hazen, associate dean of the faculty and chairman of the committee on faculty parking, said the $50 fee was "in the middle range" of fees charged at other universities.

Graduate students, who in the past have been able to use cars without paying any fee, will be required to pay $50 also. However, this new ruling applies only to single students living at the Graduate College. During the summer, parking facilities at the Graduate College will be expanded by 150 spaces.

Instituted in 1927. The original ruling prohibiting students from having cars nearer to Princeton than their homes came into effect in January 1927 after a series of accidents in the preceeding months has building has it seemed feasible to go out and purchase a piece of property."

Unwilling to go into the rental business, he sheared off recently when a realtor showed him a Witherspon Street building, and reminded him that the Borough requires that 60% of the building be tenanted by residents.

Weighing possibilities, with his firm and Princeton almost inextricably bound together for a half century, Orren Jack Turner says simply, "Our successes, such as they are, and our failures, such as they are, have all been in Princeton."

killed five undergraduates. The distance was lowered in the 1950's to a radius of 35 miles around Princeton, and further reduced to eight miles four years ago

In past years married undergraduates, those with certain types of jobs and heads of some campus organizations were given special permission to use cars. Approximately 400 fell into one of these categories last year.

Before deciding on the change the university met with officials in both the Borough and Township and West Windsor to discuss problems that might arise.

There is speculation that the new ruling will be extremely hard to enforce, but Mr. Lippincott commented that, "we don't anticipate undue abuses."

HOUSE CANVASS PLANNED

By Peace Group. Vietnam Summer, an organization opposed to the Vietnam war, will begin a house-to-house canvass of the Borough and the Township on Friday which will continue into the fall.

Canvassers will be soliciting support for antiwar activities and attempting to find out what residents think about the war. Interested people will be invited to neighborhood discussion groups on the war.

The canvassers will work with a questionnaire designed by Sam Glucksberg, Robert Kraus and Bertram Koslin of the University physchology department, together with Roger Maren, Robert Knapp and Rich Killmer.

One hundred and fifty people attended the group's last meeting. Those interested in participating in the canvassing or discussion groups should call Mr. Knapp, 924-6159; Mr. Killmer, 924-9371; Charles Fish, 921-2954, or Mrs. Paul Fussell, 924-7749.

"CINDERELLA" SET

At Area Playgrounds. The Princeton High School Summer Children's Theatre will perform "Cinderella" at six area playgrounds this month. After the play, children will be invited to participate in a workshop in which they will be able to improvise sketches and pantomimes.

Alissa Cawley has directed the production, and the cast includes Adrian Fogelin, Betsy Steck, Debby Arcamone, Joan Kreiss, Kay Van Valkenburg, Ken Jacobs, Andy Block and Jim Peskin.

The schedule for the play is: Friday, Princeton High School; Monday, Marquand Park; Tuesday, Community Park; Wednesday, Riverside Playground; Thursday, Harrison Street Playground, and Friday, July 28, Grover Park.

John Markuson: Navy Veteran, Fisherman, Policeman

(Third in a Series)

KNOW YOUR POLICEMAN

Borough Badge No. 4. Fifteen years ago, after having worked for four years as a maintenance man at Dillon Gymnasium, John Markuson decided to apply for a job on the Borough police force.

"I thought I would like it," he replied when asked why he joined. Then after a moment of groping, as if he sensed the decision to embark on a new career needed a better reason, he hunched his shoulders and added, "Incentive for excitement is the only thing I can figure."

That excitement has yet to come—at least the kind he had probably envisioned. There have been, he said, no close calls, no indelible experiences since he joined the force in February, 1952. And so it would appear, on the surface, that Patrolman Markuson, now 51, had been denied his desire for excitement.

On the surface, yes; beneath the surface, no. In a five-year span that encompassed World War II when he served aboard a submarine, John experienced more high-tension drama than most men encounter in a lifetime.

His yearning for excitement first began in 1939 when he joined the Royal Canadian Air Force. "I signed a one-year contract with them to teach me how to fly," he recalled. But his career as a pilot never got off the ground; he washed out. Not long after, in late 1940 or early 1941—"It's been so long I can't remember"—he enlisted in the U.S. Navy. He spent five and one-half years in the Navy, five aboard the Submarine U.S.S. Barb, where he was chief machinist mate responsible for the gear that controlled the sub's hydraulic and diving systems.

2nd Highest Tonnage. U.S. subs are named for fish and while the barb is a small fish, the U.S.S. Barb was a killer shark as far as the enemy was concerned. Its kills ranged from a converted Japanese carrier to a German pocket ship, the equivalent of a U.S. PT Boat. Roaming both the Atlantic and the Pacific, the Barb emerged from the war with the second highest amount of tonnage sunk to its credit.

Once near Formosa, Patrolman Markuson and seven others slipped away from the Barb in a rubber boat and landed on a small island. "We blew up a Japanese train," he said matter-of-factly. All returned safely. For his part in the raid, Patrolman Markuson was awarded the Silver Star. The commander of the Barb, Eugene Flucky, he said, was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

John Markuson

As he ticked off his remembrances of those years aboard the Barb, Patrolman Markuson spoke with economy, almost reluctantly — without a trace of boasting. And yet listening to him, observing him, one could almost feel the tremendous pride. He was proud of having served aboard the Barb, proud of that second highest tonnage record, proud of his skipper — and thankful that he was one of those who came back.

"A lot of fellows I went to school with didn't come back," he said. "A lot of them." He reported that subs had suffered the second highest rate of ships missing during the war, trailing only destroyers in casualties. Asked about close calls the Barb may have experienced, he said in his typical sparse way, "We got rocked quite a bit."

Biggest Change: Traffic. What does he feel is the biggest change in the last 15 years in his work as a policeman. "The increase in traffic. To me, it's been tremendous.

"There's an old saying," he continued, "that there's a difference between Princeton in the summer and Princeton in the winter, but there is no difference as far as traffic goes.

"What is the solution? I don't have any. I have my doubts if they'll ever correct it—even with all their bypasses."

John came to Princeton 24 years ago when he married n Princeton girl he had met at Seaside Heights. He had lived most of his life in nearby Manasquan, graduating from Manasquan High School in 1934. He was born in Perth Amboy.

He and his wife, Jean, live at 32 N. Harrison Street with their three children. George graduated in 1965 from Princeton High School where he was a starting guard on the football team. He is presently attending Athens College in Alabama. Bobby is a junior at PHS and Judith a third grader at St. Paul's School.

For hobbies, John likes surf fishing at the shore — "I've caught a few pretty good size" (If you can't get a fisherman to talk about the ones that got away, you know he's a man of few words) — and hunting. He spends most of his time in the Pines trapshooting with the Princeton Rod and Gun Club. "I'm not a crack shot but I enjoy it."

Like the sailor he once was, John has the rest of his life's course well-charted. He intends to stay in the police force until his retirement 10 years from now. "Then I am going to live at the shore with my family. We all like everything about the shore."

That fishing will still be from the surf, too. "You know," he said, "I've never been on a surface ship in my life."

ROAD WIDENING PLANNED

To Hightstown. Widening of another portion of the Princeton-Hightstown Road to four lanes will be undertaken shortly, the State Department of Transporation announced this week.

The project will begin at the Locust Corner intersection in East Windsor Township and extend into West Windsor. Now 20 feet wide with two lanes, the county highway (571) will be expanded to 44 feet to create two 11-foot lanes in both directions. The new section will join at each end of the route portions of the highway which have already been widened to permit a total of four lanes.

Total length of the reconstruction is 4,700 feet, about eight-tenths of a mile. The project will be completed in 80 working days — between three and four months.

The contract was awarded to Trap Rock Industries of Kingston for a bid of $222,648, about 10% lower than the next of five bidders. County and federal funds will meet the cost.

TWO LOSE LICENSES

For Three Months on Points. Two Hopewell drivers have had their licenses revoked for three months by the Division of Motor Vehicles for exceeding the point limit.

They are Barry B. Nevius, 18, 91 Columbia Avenue, and Armand R. Meyer, 20, of Wertsville Road. William J. Bartolino, 20, 8 Tee Ar Place, Princeton, surrendered his license for 30 days for speeding.

JOBS FOUND FOR TEENS

By Operation Bootstrap. Operation Bootstrap, a project of the John Witherspoon Civic Association, has found jobs for 26 area teenagers at Fort Dix.

The youngsters, most of them from Princeton High School, leave mornings by bus at 6:45 and return at 6 p.m. In charge of the project are Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, chairman of the Association, and Miss Mary E. Moore, teen-age coordinator.

News Of The THEATRES

"LA BOHEME" TO BE SUNG By Princeton Opera Assn. The Princeton Opera Association will present Puccini's "La Boheme" Friday and Saturday at 8:30 at the Open Air Theatre of Washington Crossing State Park. The production will be directed by Igor Chichagov.

Alice Richmond, who has appeared in a wide variety of roles with the New York City opera, will sing Mimi. Miss Richmond has toured North America in concert from Puerto Rico to Nova Scotia. Her last appearance with Princeton Opera was as Anna in the 1965 production of Hollingsworth's, "The Mother".

In the role of Rodolpho will be Herman Malamood. Mr. Malamood has sung in some of the leading concert halls in the U.S. and Europe. He has appeared on radio, television at Madison Square Garden in the "Night of Stars." This winter he will travel to Israel and Italy for concert and opera appearances.

Making her Princeton Opera debut is Lia Della from Riga, Latvia, in the role of Musetta. She has appeared in opera and musical comedy and has been soloist with the Oklahoma City Symphony orchestra.

Also in the production are two Princeton residents, St. Kimbrough as Marcello and Stuart Root, who has the roles of Aldindoro and Benoit. Mr. Kimbrough, active in the association's productions for the past four years, last appeared in Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief" and in Humperdink's "Hansel and Gretel."

This spring he won the Rita Hoernle vocal award given by the Liederkranz Foundation of New York City and was presented in concert at Carnegie Hall. Mr. Root, a lawyer in New York, has performed in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, and has sung here with the Society of Musical Amateurs and as a soloist in All Saints Chapel.

James Hooper will sing Colline and Hector J. Nieves will take on the part of Shaunard. Renita D'Ippolito is in charge of costumes and makeup, Joe Preston is stage manager, Robert Perrine will handle sets and design, and Jack McCullough, lights. For information about the performances, call the Washington Crossing State Park office, 737-0623.

SUNDANCE TO OPEN For Fifth Season. Sundance, the Bucks County festival of chamber music and the new American arts will present eight programs through the month of August, marking its fifth summer season. All performances will be given on Fridays and Saturdays at 9 p.m., beginning on August 4.

Performances are held in a miniature amphitheater seating fewer than 400 persons set in the woods near Upper Black Eddy, Bucks County, Pa.

Ralph Kirkpatrick, considered by many to be the world's greatest harpsichordist, will present the opening program. He will perform works by Handel, Rameau, Couperin, Bach and Scarlatti. On the following night he will be joined by the New York Chamber soloists—flute, oboe and cello.

Classical trios and quintets will perform on the second Sundance weekend. On Friday, August 11, the Trio Vivo —Isidore Cohen, violin, Charles McCraken, cello and Robert Helps piano — will play. On Saturday, August 12, members of the New York Chamber soloists will return to perform the Mozart Clarinet Quintet, the Schubert String Trio and the Brahms Clarinet Quintet.

Controversial Musical. On its third weekend, Sundance presents a program on the new American arts. Scheduled for Friday, August 18, is "The Golden Screw," the controversial musical play by Tom Sankey, winner of a 1967 "Obie" award, in the original off-Broadway production.

The following night, Sundance will offer an evening of New American cinema, featuring outstanding and seldom-available examples of the work of the "underground" filmmakers. Because these programs have always been sold out in past seasons, a repeat showing is planned on Sunday, August 20.

Work by leading avantgarde artists in theatre, music and dance in a program entitled, "Current Events," will launch the final weekend. Robert Whitman, a founder of the "happenings" movement, will present a theatre piece created especially for Sundance; Terry Riley will perform his music for saxophone and tape; and dancer - choreographer Trisha Brown will appear in a new dance work.

The 1967 season will end the next night with a performance by Ravi Shankar, the great master of the sitar, in a concert of the classical music of India. Mr. Shankar is largely responsible for introducing this music to western audiences. He will be accompanied by Alla Rakha playing the table (double drums) and Kamala Chakravarty playing the tamboura (string drone).

Subscriptions, individual tickets and additional information are available by writing Sundance, Upper Black Eddy, Pa., 18972; by phone, 215-847-5303; or at the box office.

TO FEATURE BRAHMS to Open Air Concert. The New Chamber Players of Princeton will present an All Brahms Program at the Open Air Theatre at Washington Crossing on Tuesday at 8:30.

The program will include Sonata No. 1 in E Minor for Cello and Piano and the Sonata in F Minor for Clarinet and Piano. Performing will be Marian Zarzeczna, pianist; George Jones, clarinetist, and Frederick Zenone, cellist.

Tickets cost $2 for adults and $1 for students and will be

IT'S NEW To Us

PLAY IT AGAIN, SAM

On the Record. Our man in the music department at the University Store reminds us ominously that stereo and mono record prices are now the same. You know what that means, of course; because nothing in this world ever goes down, mono records have gone up to meet the stereo prices.

We use the word "ominously" because this price lift is a portent of things to come. A couple of record companies have already announced that they aren't going to make monos any more, and before long, the rest will follow and the monoaural record will be as extinct as the wax cylinder.

Meanwhile, University Store is bravely offering a set of three Toscanini discs never released before, all mono because that's the way they were recorded and nobody has tampered with the original recording.

Incidentally, U-Store will be glad to sell you a stereo cartridge for that aging mono record player.

Toscanini appears again — we saw some Wagner — on budget-priced records selling at a pleasing $1.98 to $2.50 per disc. The labels are various.

It's always good to write about the latest release from Dr. Carl Weinrich, the world-famous organist who is the Princeton University chapel organist.

He's represented at the U-Store with the six organ concertos and six fugues of Handel, recorded on the organ of the General Theological Seminary in New York, with Arthur Fiedler's Sinfonetta.

Have you listened to the recordings made by Melodiye, the Russian wing of Angel? Melodiye records only Russian composers and you start with a dear old war horse, the Tschaikowsky Piano Concerto No. 1 in B-flat minor with Grigory Sokolov.

From there, you have a choice of Shostakovich, Katchaturian, Prokofief — all the boys. Recordings were made in the Soviet Union.

While we're talking of old favorites, heres a new album by Francis Albert Sinatra (yes, that's what the sleeve says). He is joined by Antonio Carlos Jobim, the man with the girl-friend in Ipanema. These two are NOT recording the organ concertos of Handel. Fun, just the same.

The Beatles are out with a new record, too — newer than that Sinatra-Jobim one. It's called "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band" and it costs $5.79, which is well over $1 per Beatle. The gamble is yours.

"Revenge" is the newest Bill Cosby record. We think this makes his fifth recording, but it's hard to keep track. You'll want them all, in any case if you're a fan of this comedian. Great for rainy-day listening on the porch of a beach house.

Tom Lehrer doesn't seem to have anything new, but he is represented by a re-issue by Reprise Records of "Songs by Tom Lehrer.

"Sounds Like Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass" needs no further description. This is the record with the "Casino Royale" music. You can get a record by the Baja Marimba boys, too; they're the one riding Herb's crest of fame.

Moving on from "Casino Royale," we find sound track music from "8 on the Lam," the movie with Bob Hope, Phyllis Diller and Jonathan Winters, and "You Only Live Twice." Curiously enough, there is a sound-track record from "A Man for All Seasons," but it's a two-disc set and you pay $10.90 which may be More than Sir Thomas is worth.

LET'S PLAY

You Dump, I'll Pour. Creative Plaything's summer collection of toys is so fascinating that you'll buy not just for summer, but for the year 'round delight of your child.

Actually, "toys" is not an "in" word at Creative Playthings. We should speak instead of play materials, tools for exploration, play environment . . .

Well, the terms don't matter when the objects are so entrancing.

Traveling families, or families facing rainy-day problems will want the masonite sewing cards with their long-tipped colored laces to use for "embroidering" rabbits, a ship, a doll. The see-inside puzzle lets the child look behind to see what's inside the tree or below the water. The lift-out puzzle has a convenient knob on each object so you can take it out of the puzzle matrix and use it as a separate toy.

For the shore-bound, Creative Playthings shows sand castles which are made from sand packed tight into crenelated molds. Dig your own moat and the sea will provide the rest.

An aluminum sand set resists rust and has a very efficient sifter and some sturdy cups to dig to the bottom of things. The sand machine has a wooden hopper which will accept beach sand, backyard dirt and sandbox sand. The sliding trap door lets out as much sand as you need at that particular time. As it flows out, it turns a wooden paddle wheel. Might as well buy the jumbo dump truck, ton — there's an awful lot of sand at the beach.

For an outdoor summer, Creative Playthings has a butterfly collecting kit with long-handled net, jar, "relaxing fluid," mounting board, pins and a how-to booklet.

The little greenhouse grows small tomatoes and dwarf marigolds, and maybe herbs next winter. It's a real greenhouse, with the special soil and plant food needed for miniature culture.

If it's too hot to collect butterflies or dig in the sand, try one of Creative Playthings' new games. One has each player wearing a crowd of cards on his head. He doesn't know what his own cards are, and can only find out by looking at the other players' cards and making logical deductions. But . . . take down all the mirrors!

"Sail Away" teaches you the rules and tactics in sailboat racing without the sunburn and salt in the hair. Players maneuver their boats around the race course, encountering shifts of wind, capsizing and even other players. No chance elements in this one: if you make the wrong decision, you'll end up beached.

Bow Far Is "Out"?

Bins at the University Store's record department are labeled with dividers reading "Folk Rock," "Show Tunes" and the like.

Our favorite new classification is "Psychedelic." In front of this filing card we found a fascinating collection with quivering "art nouveau" colors and designs on the sleeves and who knows what inside?

Here's "Country Joe and the Fish," "Cosmic Sounds" (featuring celestial counterpoint with words and music and a lot of zodiacal stuff). Then there's "Psychedelic Percussion" which almost explains itself. Turn the volume up, and yourself on . . .

THE BEST NUMBER to call for classified advertising is 924-2200.

News Of The Theatres

available at the gate. In case of rain, the concert will be held Wednesday.

COMEDY CONTINUES

At New Hope. "Period of Adjustment," the Tennessee Williams comedy about the ups and downs of a young married couple, is the current offering at the Bucks County Playhouse. Don Hastings is featured in the production which runs through July 29.

Following will be "She Loves Me" a whimsical Broadway cream puff with songs by Jerry Bock and Sheldon Hernick, who wrote "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Fiorello." Jeannie Carson and Biff McGuire will play the leads and Milton Lyon will direct. "She Love Me" will open July 31 and run for three weeks.

"RAINMAKER" OPENS

At Cadwalader Park. "The Rainmaker" will be presented at Cadwalader Park in Trenton this Wednesday through Saturday.

The Richard Nash comedy is a sentimental idyll of an innocent country girl's encounter with a charming, but slippery con man. The New York Times judged it "a lusty antic in a popular comedy vein."

AT NEW HOPE: Mary Mour stars in Tennessee Williams' "Period of Adjustment" at the Bucks County Playhouse.

Following "The Rainmaker" will be "Mister Roberts", a tough, unrestrained comedy, which Thomas Haggen adapted from his novel with the help of Princeton University alumnus Joshua Logan. The play deals with the unconventional crew of a navy cargo boat in the Pacific during World War II. It will run from August 1 through 5.

Frank Loesser's musical, "The Most Happy Fella," will be presented from August 22 through 26. The show, which is almost entirely in song, contains many of the composer's best tunes.

"FUNNY GIRL" OPENS

At Music Circus. The Broadway hit, "Funny Girl," has opened a two-week stand at the Music Circus in Lambertville. The show will continue through Sunday, July 30.

The musical, based on the early life of Fanny Brice, has a number of fine songs, most of them popularized by Barbra Streisand, who starred in the show on Broadway. Appearing in the Music Circus production will be Denise Lor as Fanny, Robert Roman as Nick Arnstein and Fran Stevens as Mrs. Brice.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE

You Only Live Twice (held over). This is a bona fide James Bond, with deadly, cool Sean Connery in the role of the great superspy for the fifth time.

It begins with a prologue in which a U.S. astronaut's space walk is interrupted by another space craft which opens its strange jaws and swallows his space ship. The United States assumes this to be a Russian attempt, and Agent 007 is assigned by helpful British intelligence to locate the missing craft.

The title refers to a bit of action while the screen credits are flashing in which Bond, ensconced with the first in a long line of Japanese beauties, is gunned down and pronounced dead in her bed. His sea burial is merely a cover.

Bond's enemies send two dozen Japanese henchmen after him, there's a redheaded villainess (who gets her by a piranha fish); four helicopters chase him, and there are karate fights and gun battles -- with 007 remaining invulnerable, never losing his cool.

This is the biggest of the James Bond films, costing $9½ million, and there's plenty of action for the dollar.

GARDEN

The Naked Runner (now playing). Frank Sinatra is cast in the role of an unwitting assassain, neither a hero nor an anti-hero, but simply a man drawn into a web of outside influence who reacts in a very human way.

Sinatra departs entirely from his usual swaggering, slick-talking roles, and turns in a remarkably controlled performance as a widowed furniture designer on his way to the Leipzig Fair with his little boy. Before departing London, he received a call from an old friend in British Intelligence (Peter Vaughan) and agrees to deliver a message to a wartime girl friend, believing it will release her from some unexplained trouble.

He leaves his son at the Fair and completes his errand. On returning, he is told by a stranger that the boy has been in an accident and is escorted under gunpoint to a hideaway where an East German security agent accuses bim of espionage for the British. What he has not been told is that the British Intelligence hope to get him in a bind so that he will kill a British defector bound for Russia with valuable information.

There's a good deal of suspense ,though much is based on a far-fetched story. The performances are generally good.

ANOTHER ROUND DUE On Community Park Parking. Township Committee devoted the major part of its Monday night session discussing and listening to comments on the ordinance regulating parking in Community Park and finally voted to re advertise and re introduce the law at its next meeting Monday, August 7.

The delay was brought on when the Committee passed an amendment to the ordinance changing the wording of one section concerning the authority of the recreation director to regulate parking in the lot. William H. Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, was concerned that parents visiting teachers in nearby schools or voters on election days would not be able to use the lot.

Henry J. Frank, a member of the Township's traffic safety committee took issue with the right of the recreation director to control the parking, but said that traffic safety committee is more interested in seeing some sort of ordinance passed.

The bill, which prohibits parking in the lots from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m., next ran into trouble over the question of overnight parking for Birch street residents. Mrs. Warren Huff Jr., 25 Race Street, commented that "We certainly need overnight parking there." We complained about abandoned cars, we did not say we did not want any parking at all."

Committeeman William Wilson suggested that the committee not re introduce the measure at its next meeting but at the August 21 session, and use the time to get the required approval from the director of motor vehicles and hear more from the residents about overnight parking.

However committeeman Jack Wallace moved to consider the amended ordinance at the next meeting. The vote was 3-2, with Mayor Carl C. Schafer and Mr. Wilson voting no, feeling that more time was needed to revise the law, to avoid having to re introduce it a second time.

In other action Committee introduced two bills for sewer extensions totalling $64,700. One would be built along a portion of State Road near Ewing Street, the other along part of Mercer Road by Gallup Road.

A measure calling for the sidewalks to be built on Walnut Lane between Guyot Avenue and Terhune Road was re introduced. The bill came up last month with a sidewalk planned for only one side, but residents in the area asked for walks on both sides.

Township Clerk Joe Nini reported the acceptance of a bid by Castoro and Co., of Hopewell, for the extension of Terhune Road from Mt. Lucas to the State Road. Construction will begin in two weeks.

David S. Thompson

Under old business Committee passed an ordinance requested by the State Department of Water Supply requiring proper means of sewer and water connections on lots in minor subdivisions.

THOMPSON RESIGNS From Township Committee. Citing the possibility of conflict of interest, David S. Thompson Monday night submitted his resignation from Township Committee, effective at the Committee's earliest convenience.

Mr. Thompson, who was elected to his first term last November said that he felt his duties as assistant to the president of Princeton University might conflict at times with his role as a member of the Township governing board. Committee accepted his resignation with regret, effective August 1.

Committee immediately filled the vacancy, appointing Harry J. Volwieder, 28 Woodland Drive. Mr. Volwieder, president of S. T. Peterson and Co. and chairman of the Recreation Commission, will serve to January 1, 1968, and will enter the primary on the Republican ticket as a candidate for the unexpired two-year term.

HITS 3 PARKED CARS Charged with Drunken Driving. A 62-year-old Stanworth resident was charged with drunken driving late Sunday night, after her car struck three parked automobiles on Stanworth Lane—two of them belonging to the same person.

Mrs. Helen M. Patee, 50 N. Stanworth Drive, told police she had been visiting friends on Stanworth Drive East and had no idea what happened after she came around the corner. Refusing to be taken to Princeton Hospital, she was given first aid at the scene for abrasions of the left arm and both knees by Officer Gerald Patterson.

There were no witnesses to the multiple crash. As reconstructed by the investigating officer, Ptl. Charles Harris, Mrs. Patee lost control of her car after turning off Stanworth Drive South onto Stanworth Lane.

Her car first rammed a Volkswagen owned by William A. Sirignano, 32 N. Stanworth Lane, damaging its entire left side and front. The VW was pushed over the curb.

At the same time, Mrs. Patee's car continued on and struck a 1967 Buick in the left rear, also owned by Mr. Sirignano, jumped the curb and traveled 39 feet before coming to rest against a small tree in the rear lawn of 41 Stanworth Lane. The entire left rear, front fender and hood of Mr. Sirignano's Buick were damaged.

It was evident, said Ptl. Harris in his report, that the VW and Buick were struck with a great amount of force. The Buick, after being hit, was forced into the rear of a third parked car, owned by Florence Armstrong of 51 Stanworth.

168 Feet From Impact. The force of the impact referred to by Ptl. Harris pushed the Buick and Mrs. Armstrong's 1963 Chevrolet diagonally across Stanworth Lane. Both came to rest against the opposite curb, 168 feet from the initial point of contact.

The entire front end and right side of Mrs. Patee's car were damaged. The accident occurred at 10:40 p.m.

There were two single car accidents on Sunday in the Township.

At 12:45 a.m., three Trenton residents escaped serious injury when their car skidded out of control on Route 206 near the intersection of Ewing Street.

Injured were Bruce McColl, 22, the driver, who sustained a laceration of the scalp; Tower Freeman, 29, scratches of the right hand and a contusion of the left eye; and Joan Heverly, 22, pain in the left shoulder.

Two Thrown from Car. According to Ptl. Michael Kopliner, Mr. McColl's car skidded on the wet and slippery roadway, crossed over the opposite lane, hit a Public Service pole and then came to rest against a large tree on the property of 255 State Road (Route 206). The collision with the pole tore the right front door of the car completely off, causing the two passengers to be thrown from the car. Their 1961 sedan was described as a total loss.

Ptl. Kopliner charged Mr. McColl with careless driving. He said that both rear tires had been worn completely smooth and that lack of tread may have caused the car to have poor traction. Mr. McColl told police he was going between 35 and 40 miles per hour before the mishap.

Smoking Causes Accidents, Too. A dropped lighted cigar-

Pool Receipts Match Costs

Recreation director R. Donald Barr reported at the Township Committee meeting Monday night that 1967 receipts from pool and tennis admission have reached $52,550.50.

Mr. Barr pointed out that the amount more than covers the estimated operating budget of the pool and tennis courts, which was set at little more than $51,000.

"We've had 2,500 people at one time on several Sundays," Mr. Barr commented. "I'm very pleased with the way things are going."

ette triggered a crash on Ewing Street shortly before mid night.

Robert Mazzella, 19, 127 Washington Road, told Ptl. David Wilbur when his passenger, Barbara Brearley, 18, 177 Harrison Street, accidentally dropped her cigarette on the car's floorboard, he reached for it and in so doing lost control.

His car glanced off a Public Service pole and traveled across the rear yard of Frank Cuomo, 161 Linden Lane. It continued on into a fence at 159 Linden. About 22 feet of fence was destroyed, police said.

Mr. Mazzella received a slight laceration and contusion of the nose, Miss Brearley a possible fracture of the right ankle. Their car was extensively damaged Ptl. Wilbur made no charges.

COMMUTERS SNAGGED By Rail Strike. This community's 1,000 commuters were the principal victims of the 30-hour railroad strike which halted virtually all of the nation's railroads on Monday. It was the first such complete tie up of rail traffic in 20 years.

Inconvenienced in considerably lesser fashion were retail business firms and individuals to whom parcel post shipments were delayed by at least the length of the strike. Short-changed, too, were Princeton area residents who toted packages to the Post Office, only to be told that anything destined beyond the second postal zone (more that 150 miles) would either have to be taken home again until the strike ended or shipped first class at 60 cents a pound.

Commuters had one of four choices Monday morning. They could go by car, bus, plane or stay home and all four solutions to the crisis were reached in varying degrees. When late afternoon arrived Monday without a positive solution to the strike, many found it advisable to remain in the city where they worked over night.

As events turned in Washington, not one of the Princeton area's three congressmen voted to end the strike when such legislation was presented to them. Following party lines, Senator Harrison Williams and Rep. Frank Thompson, both Democrats, voted against the bill which enabled President Johnson to bring the strike to an end Tuesday morning.

Sen. Clifford Case, a Republican, was keeping a long-standing commitment to speak in Miami Beach to the Retail Clerks' convention. His office, which said he had checked to ascertain whether his vote would have been decisive, said he was in favor of the bill.

Delays at Post Office. Postmaster John L. Dilworth said that the embargo on accepting all but first class mail for distances of more than 150 miles "caused a number of patrons inconveniences on Monday." One woman who had carried a heavy package up to the parcel post office told the clerk, "If you can't mail it for me, the least you can do is check it here until the strike is over." Informed that such service was not possible, she finally mailed it first class.

"About six hampers of parcel post received from business firms had to be returned to them," Mr. Dilworth reported. The embargo was lifted at 10:28 a.m. Tuesday, he said.

"Actually," the Postmaster commented, "we have encountered considerably more delay in receiving mail from cities in North Jersey where racial riots have caused major disturbances than resulted from the rail strike. First class mail designated for Princeton from such points as Newark, Jersey City, Elizabeth and Plainfield has been three or four days late in arrival.

"Virtually all transportation is by truck from one point to another inside the state," Mr. Dilworth said. "When riots of the size these cities have had break out in the streets, the trucks just don't go through."

MEETING SCHEDULED By Lawrence Citizens. Charles K. Agle will discuss the implications of the proposed rezoning of rural areas of Lawrence Township at a public meeting Friday at 8 p.m. in the music room of Lawrence Senior High School. The session is sponsored by Lawrence Citizens for Good Planning.

Mr. Agle, who lives at 247 Elm Road, is a planning consultant, and has been engaged in problems of community development for 30 years. He is presently working on such projects as the Norfolk Redevelopment and Housing Authority and master plans for more than a dozen communities.

He was a member of the New York City Planning Commission and the Port of New York Authority, and has written several articles on the problems of urbanization. His analysis of the Lawrence situation will consider the regional effects as well as the local impact of the rezoning.

The specific rezoning in question concerns the current battle between many Lawrence residents and Township officials over an ordinance which would permit the E. R. Squibb Co. to build a research and development complex on Route 206 and Province Line Road. The land is presently zoned for rural use.

Lawrence Citizens for Good Planning is a non-partisan organization working to insure the orderly and balanced growth of the township and surrounding region. All interested citizens from Lawrence as well as neighboring communities are urged to attend the meeting. For more information call 896 0841 or 896-1706.

Censorship in Effect

When TOWN TOPICS called Company A, the Princeton-based armored unit of the New Jersey National Guard, to ask whether any of its members had been assigned to help quell the race riot in Newark, this was the answer

"As a matter of fact, we didn't go, but if we had, we wouldn't have been able to tell you. We are under strict orders from those directing our operations not to reveal anything about our actions."

FAVORS POLICE CONTROL Of Shopping Center Traffic. "I'd love to see us in charge of moving violations at the Shopping Center."

The speaker, Township Chief James B. Campbell Jr. was asked by TOWN TOPICS to comment on the traffic situation at the Princeton Shopping Center, following an accident there last week in which three Princeton youths narrowly escaped serious injury when their speeding car overturned. The Shopping Center is private property and as such is outside the jurisdiction of the Township Police.

Chief Campbell pointed out that only in fatal accidents or ones involving drunken driving do police have the authority to make charges on private property. Police can also act in a third-type accident — assault with an automobile where there has been serious injury — but Chief Campbell said that this is rarely used.

"You have to prove that the driver deliberately tried to run someone down," he said. "It's very hard to prove."

In saying that he would like to see his department in charge of moving violations at the Center, Chief Campbell quickly added, "But no parking violations." If we had to enforce parking there, we'd be the most unpopular force in the state."

Although he favors such a move, Chief Campbell said that the impetus for it would have to come from the owners. The Shopping Center, he said, would have to make a petition to the State Motor Vehicle Department saying that police control of traffic was needed and wanted.

In turn, this request would have to be referred to Township Committee. A similar pattern was followed recently by Lawrence Township which passed an ordinance placing the Lawrence Township Shopping Center under control of Lawrence Township Police.

If Committee reacted favorably to the petition, Chief Campbell said a traffic engineer would have to study the traffic patterns at the Center with an eye for laying out the best and safest flow. "You'd need tons of yellow lines," he said.

At the present some private property owned by the University is under the control of the Township Police. These include the housing project on Harrison Street, as well as Faculty Road and Western Way.

CHURCH FENCE TARGET Of Vandals. Police report that vandals last week broke off about 50 metal ornamental flowers that were part of a fence on the Mercer Street property of Trinity Church. The fence is more than 100 years old and is considered a landmark, police added.

Thirty-three of the metal flowers were found on the opposite side of Mercer where they had apparently been thrown. Police said the church would probably be able to weld these back in place.

Alcohol, Nicotine vs. Drugs.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

One of your readers advocates the death penalty for selling heroin. Presumably the idea is that the most vicious crime deserves the harshest penalty. But is trafficking in heroin actually the most vicious of all offenses, or have we perhaps embalmed in cant about the narcotics problem?

The president of the California Board of Medical Examiners, among others, says smoking is not a bad habit but a bad addiction. The American Cancer Society says cigarettes are killing 300,000 persons a year.

The New York State Health Commissioner says, "There is no other agent, whether it is bullets or germs or viruses that is killing anything like as many Americans as the cigarette is." Compared to this major league batting average, heroin isn't even in the sand-lot leagues. So what penalty would be fitting for the nicotine pushers?

Alcohol is addictive, too, and there are an estimated six million Americans hooked on it, or about 60 times as many as are claimed to be hooked on heroin. Alcohol is acknowledged to be responsible for over half the highway accidents (52,000 dead last year, about 1.9 million disabling injuries and $9-billion economic loss).

Alcohol is also responsible for half the crime in the United States. Surveys of prisoners in various institutions have repeatedly shown that 40 to 60% have been incarcerated for alcohol-related crimes. Add to that the incalculable number of broken homes and shattered careers due to alcohol addition and you have a sum total of miseries and misdeeds so vast that it dwarfs to insignificance the crimes by heroin addicts. So what penalty would be fitting for the alcohol pushers?

Obviously heroin is a grave danger to the user and to society, and its sale should be discouraged by extremely severe penalties, but shouldn't we try to extricate ourselves from our collective mote-beam syndrome? Wouldn't it be a novel idea to try to see the drug problem in its true perspective instead of hiding it behind a smokescreen of hypocrisy?

If we genuinely believed the punishment should be proportional to the social evil, if we were really to be honest with ourselves (a possibility not likely to occur until Satan is forced to don ice skates), we would assign penalties for illicit drug distribution in a descending order of severity, with alcohol and nicotine pushing at the top of the list of offenses. Heroin pushing would be next, followed by trafficking in pep pills, LSD and the like.

Somewhere at the bottom of the list, provisionally, would be peddling marijuana. One has to say "provisionally" because at the present time not enough is known about the incidence, for example, of lung cancer and heart disease among pot smokers.

Of course, the real answer to the drug problem does not lie in a simple-minded punitive approach. If all youngsters had a wholesome upbringing, and if we had built the kind of society that would arouse their admiration and stimulate their idealism, the drug peddlers would have only a mini-market consisting of a few simpletons, sociopaths and borderline psychotics. But the way things are today, many young people obviously feel that the unreality of a drug world is more tolerable than the realities of a society they find cynical, corrupt, brutal and phony, and in which their lives seem meaningless.

The responsibility for the present state of society is ours, and it is the grossest sort of self-deception to think we can absolve ourselves or set things to rights by making scapegoats of a few repulsive characters in the illicit drug business. After all, they have merely taken

"Uneasiness" Over Vietnam.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

TOWN TOPICS' coverage last week of Princeton families involved in the Vietnam war and the replies to "Question of the Week" reveal the increasing uneasiness of Americans about the war.

According to Newsweek's recent special issue on Vietnam, the majority of Americans want the war over with and realize that it can be ended only by some form of negotiation rather than by all-out bombing or by unilateral withdrawal.

While the pressures for drastic escalation continue to be well organized and publicized, pressures for negotiation from responsible community and national leaders are only now beginning to be voiced without the stigma of "politics" or "un-Americanism."

Those who seek a peaceful settlement in Vietnam are not a small, beleaguered minority. A national campaign called "Negotiation Now" within the past few months has enlisted the support of thousands of citizens, of prominent Catholic, Protestant and Jewish clergy, of business, labor, political and community leaders with the aim of making their voices heard and felt in Congress, the Senate and the White House.

At this moment "Negotiation Now" is organizing a local branch in Princeton. We urge those who have not yet spoken up to speak up now; we urge those who feel their past actions have been futile to join with others to create effective action now.

In addition, two upright bars of the fence were broken. The church also reported that in an earlier act of vandalism, fibre glass insulation had been torn from a ceiling of an assembly room in the basement.

Ptl. John J. Bellow of the Borough police investigated.

HALTED 16 MONTHS

Under Point System. John J. Smithson, 21, 67 Randall Road, has had his license suspended for 16 months by the Division of Motor Vehicles for exceeding the state's point system.

Two other point victims are Harmon T. Hubble, 20, 175 Nassau Street, and Courtland Nicoll, 51, Cold Soil Road. Each lost his license for one month.

In Borough court Monday, Magistrate T. Tams Jr. fined Robert C. Loewenthal, 17, 278 Riverside Drive, $20 for speeding. Paul H. Voebel, 39, Crusher Road, Hopewell, paid $12 for a red light violation.

TWO THIEVES ARRESTED

In Combined Effort. Fast Action by the Township and Borough police and a pair of lucky coincidences led to the apprehension Friday of two suspected thieves in the Township.

Nabbed and sent to Mercer County Jail to await action by a Grand Jury were Carl Drager, 26, of Trenton, and John Schenck, 22, of Southfield Road, Cranbury. They were charged by State Trooper Ronald Schley with breaking and entering and stealing a checkwriter, a supply of checks and an undisclosed amount of cash from the Capella Woods Enterprises in Monroe Township, near Hightstown. The firm manufacturers wood turnings, reproductions, drum sticks, police riot sticks and the like.

Soon after the report of the theft, a Hightstown policeman went into a store in the area to warn the proprietor that someone might try to pass one of the stolen checks. While in the store, the officer recognized two men inside who had been in trouble before. They ran off and jumped into their car, but not before the officer was able to write down its registration.

This number and a description of the car and the two men were sent out to the surrounding police stations. Clinton Groover, an employee of the Township sewer department, whose car radio receives police calls, heard the Township police relaying the alarm. Soon after, he spotted the suspects' car on Mount Lucas Road and radioed the police.

Within minutes there were eight police on the scene. The suspects' car was forced to stop at Leigh Avenue and Bayard Lane, where both occupants jumped out and fled. Both were quickly apprehended, however, Schenck in a flower bed on Wilson Road and Drager on Leigh Avenue.

Taking part in the arrest were Chief James R. Campbell, Detective Fred Porter and Ptl. Anthony Pinelli and Ptl. Mario Musso of the Township police and Ptl. David Alston of the Borough. Sgt. Porter charged them with possession of stolen property. They were held in $8,500 bail and sent to Mercer Jail.

VISITOR CUTS HAND

At Nassau Inn. Lionel M. Pleasant of El Paso, Tex., was taken by Borough police to Princeton Hospital Thursday, following an accident at the Nassau Inn where Mr. Pleasant was a guest.

Sgt. Robert Anderson and Ptl. Thomas Procaccino report that Mr. Pleasant was about to enter the Inn's outdoor pool when he tripped or fell onto a piece of glass resting atop a small wall surrounding a tree. Twenty-two sutures were needed to close cuts on Mr. Pleasant's middle finger and right forearm.

SCHOOL IS ENTERED

At Community Park. The Community Park School was entered during the weekend by someone who gained entry by knocking out a window leading to the faculty room.

Detective Fred Porter reports that a coke machine was broken into and an undetermined amount of coins taken. He said the machine had been emptied on Friday.

The entry is being investigated by Sgt. Jack Petrone and Ptl. Michael Kopliner.

Here's the Formula

Midsummer hays
Means a
Time for sneezing,
Wheezing days.

It could be worse, one hay fever victim reports, because all that rain has kept the usual supply of dust, dry grasses and whatnot pretty well wetted down. Last week, for example, it rained on five different days — sometimes as much as a half inch at a time.

A slight turn for pleasanter weather is in store, the Man reports. Temperature will average about normal and the skies will be generally clear through the weekend.

REAPPRAISAL UNDERWAY

In West Windsor Township. Representatives of the J. M. Cleminshaw Company, a Cleveland-based appraising firm, are making a house-to-house inspection of all properties in West Windsor Township. The program is expected to be completed in the fall in time to determine the 1968 assessments.

The first area to be visited was in Penns Neck and Princeton Junction. Homes in Grovers Mill and other areas will also be visited this month.

All Cleminshaw representatives will carry proper identification and home owners are urged not to allow anyone into their homes without first examining these credentials. All property owners will be notified of the firm's finding at the completion of its work.

Cleminshaw also conducted the Township's last revaluation which was done in 1958. More recently, it served in this capacity in both Princeton Borough and Township.

TO CLOSE ROADS

On Saturday. Princeton University will close Faculty Road from Washington Road to Alexander Street and College Road from University Place to Faculty Road to through traffic on Saturday.

They are being closed in accordance with a state law which requires privately-maintained roads be closed for a 24-hour period annually. Only those with University business and residents of Hibben and Magie Apartments will be allowed on the roads.

2,000 HOMES BLACKED OUT

In Princeton Township. A power failure which began at 7:38 Monday morning and lasted 50 minutes affected about 2,000 homes in the eastern section of Princeton Township.

The blackout began when a line on Culver Road broke. Power was restored to the area when Public Service was able to switch to another line. Princeton Hospital was not affected.

Frank Hummler of the Public Service Electric and Gas Company said the failure was being investigated. Township police report they were given no explanation for the break.

PLACES OPEN

At Nursery School. The summer session of the Princeton Nursery School, which runs until August 29, has openings for young children.

The school, which operates in the summer at All Saints Nursery School, cares for preschool children of working mothers. Those wishing an interview to discuss their children should call Mrs. Sidney Blaxill, 924-2378, between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. before Tuesday.

IVY MEN TO APPEAR

At Friday Dance. The Ivy Men will entertain at the teenage dance at Princeton High School this Friday at 8:30. The dance will be sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department.

Last week's dance drew 400 enthusiastic teenagers. The Null Set played such popular songs at "Groovy" and "Sunday Will Never Be The Same".

HERE ARE SOME DECORATING HINTS

HARRIS

From time to time, we are pleased to bring you some decorating suggestions which we trust you will find interesting and perhaps useful. Here are a few that we present this week:

Don't over-crowd your rooms. Most rooms contain too much furniture. Furnish with the least amount necessary to do the job — not the most.

In your living room, try to arrange your furniture according to your family living habits. And there should be a conversation group so that people may face each other while talking.

If your television set is in the living room, your main seating pieces should face the set.

Be sure to leave open passageways so that you can easily walk from one room to another, and from one part of a room to another.

After deciding on your furniture arrangement, color scheme styles, etc., try to select furniture you can enjoy living with and using, aside from furniture you like to look at. Don't furnish in such a way that the living room is reserved for company and not the family.

The average family furnishes a home just a few times during their lives, so try to select quality and style that is lasting. We are here to serve you — and help you — and we look forward to talking with you when you are ready to shop for any furniture or furnishing ideas.

DELIVERIES EXPANDED

For Parcel Post. Parcel Post deliveries in Princeton have been expanded from five to six days where justified, Postmaster John L. Dilworth has announced.

Heavy volume residential areas will be fully restored to the six day schedule, but light volume residential and perhaps business sections where most stores are closed on Saturdays will still receive five day service, Mr. Dilworth said. He noted that the improved service will remove an inequity for many business and residential routes.

Postal customers served by "motorized" letter carriers have been receiving six day deliveries all along, but those served by foot carriers have been receiving the larger parcels on a five day a week schedule covered by a truck.

The expansion is in line with a recent directive from the Postmaster General following the signing of a post office appropriation bill by President Johnson. The legislation contains an $8.5 million item for the restoration of the six-day a week delivery which had been cut back in May, 1964, as an economy measure.

By Historical Society. To encourage visual documentation of contemporary Princeton, the Historical Society of Princeton is sponsoring a photography contest for those from 10 to 18.

First prizes of $25 worth of photography equipment and second prizes of $10 worth will be awarded in both black and white and color divisions. Loar L. Quickle of the University Store has contributed one of the first prizes.

William Roufberg, teacher at Princeton High School, is chairman, and Keith Lawder is student chairman. Judges are Mrs. Donald C. Stuart, who is in charge of the Society's old photographs and glass negatives; photographer Orren Jack Turner and Larry L. Hoffman of the Forrestal Research Center.

The winning photographs will be exhibited at Bainbridge House shortly after Labor Day. The following rules govern the contest:

Contestants must be between 10 and 18 years old.

They must complete an entry form which is available at Bainbridge House from 10 to 1 on weekdays.

Photographs and entry blanks must be submitted to the Society before August 25.

Entries may be in one of two categories: 1. Interpretation of an historic scene within the Princeton community. 2. Collection of six views on a theme.

Prints must be four by five inches or larger and must be identified with dates and other pertinent facts.

FUND DRIVE SET

By Fire Company. The Princeton Junction Volunteer Fire Company will open its 1967 Fund Drive Saturday with a door to door canvass of West Windsor. Literature and contribution envelopes will be distributed.

The firemen are hoping to raise funds to build a major addition to their engine room. The company recently equipped a water tank trailer donated by the Hess Oil Company as a tank truck or "portable hydrant" which will increase its fire-fighting capacity without taxpayer expense.

GUIDED WALKS OFFERED

At Herrontown Woods. The Mercer County Park Commission is sponsoring guided walks through Herrontown Woods led by Dr. Richard Kramer of Rutgers University, who is completing a study of the tract.

The tours are conducted from 9 to 3 on Tuesday through Friday and on alternate Saturdays. Groups of more than 10 should make reservations with the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, 921-7676.

Subjects discussed and illustrated on the walks include plant and bird identification, predator and prey relationships, soil and water conservation and stream and woodland ecology.

HOPEWELL GIVEN LAND

By Watershed Association. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association has presented two deeds conveying 6½ acres of land covering a scenic gorge of Stony Brook to the Hopewell Township Committee for the people of Hopewell Township. Paul M. VanWegen, Watershed president, made the presentation.

The land was donated to the association by Mr. and Mrs. Sherley W. Morgan, 145 Hodge Road, and Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Olcott, Hopewell - Woodsville Road, Hopewell, with a request that the association be responsible for guaranteeing the character of the land as open space in perpetuity. In the event this limitation cannot be met, the title would revert to the Watershed Association.

Mr. VanWegen commented on the open space needs of the area, pointing out that the reason for the other approaches would be necessary in the future to achieve results. The association is presently working with other landowners to expand the open space in the watershed area.

CARNIVAL COMING

To Hopewell. Hopewell Valley American Legion Post 339 will sponsor its eighth annual carnival July 27-29 and August 3-5 fom 7 p.m. to midnight. The carnival will be held on the Post's grounds; Van Dyke Road, Hopewell.

The carnival will feature amusements, kiddie rides, refreshments, free dancing every night with music provided by three bands, a different one each night. The Blawenburg concert band will play both Saturday evenings from 7 to 8:30.

A fireworks display will be held Saturday, August 5 at 9. There is parking for 2,000 cars.

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opion of Twiggy?

Where asked: Around town.

Miss Nanci Davison, 85 Erdman Avenue, typist, Firestone Library: She's all right — I'd like her check at the end of each week — I just think she's gotten a lot of publicity. I think that's why she's gotten so big so quick. I don't think she'll stay around too long.

Mrs. Barbara Ferrara, Trenton, filing clerk, Firestone Library: She's cute—in her own way, but I don't think she'll last long. Maybe in England, perhaps, but I don't think here.

Mrs. Patricia Harris, Old Bridge, secretary. She's a very cute little girl.

Stephen Pensack, 119 Random Road, student, Rutgers University: She's kind of cute but she has no lasting attraction. I think she's a fad, basically. If she represents the woman of the future, we're in trouble.

Sara Peskio, 327 Walnut Lane, secretary for Peterson's Guides, 20 Nassau Street: I think she's charming and adorable, but I wouldn't want to be Twiggy. She's sexless.

Mrs. Lynn Hayes, 12 Princeton Avenue, secretary for Peterson's Guides: I think Twiggy has been totally over publicized, and although she is a very delightful person it's unfortunate that someone that small can gain so much publicity — especially where there are so many other persons and issues that deserve exposure. I think she has talent as a model but you see her every place; eventually, she'll lose her charm.

Kenneth Lyons, Hightstown, student, Gettysburg College: I think she's pushing herself too much on the public. I know I wouldn't like the girls I know to have her shape and I don't believe women's fashion should be made to correspond to her shape. I believe she is just a symbol for the clothes coming out of England — she's not anything new. And while I don't dislike English clothes, I don't like the way she is being pushed on us. I'll stick with American and Parisian fashion models.

Diane Bardwell, Balcourt Drive, PHS junior: I think she's cute. She could use a little more weight but I don't think a fat person could model clothes as well as she. A fat person would look ridiculous in a miniskirt. Twiggy looks like a little girl but she's cute.

Miss Betsy Gleysteen, former Princeton resident now living in Virginia, student: I think she's too thin. She doesn't have any shape. Other than that, she's beautiful. She has a nice face. I don't think she should wear miniskirts, though. Her legs are too thin.

Richard Handelsman, 27 Tyson Lane, graduate student, Chicago: I don't like her very much. She's a stick. The female body was made for men, not for clothes. She's just a passing fad. I wish women would return to their senses. Also, I wonder how many women actually wear the fashions she models; it seems as if she is almost a thing apart from the regular 99% of American women. It is too bad that it is the 1% that everybody looks at and talks about but few try to copy.

Miss Carla Schafer, 364 Jefferson Road, clerk at Clayton's: I think she has a real pretty face — it's normal looking without her make-up — but her body is sort of emaciated.

Joanne Tarabell, 196 Bayard Lane, clerk at Clayton's: I think she's great. If she can make a lot of money now by what she's doing she can gain weight at her leisure. She has a very pretty face and in time she probably will look like any other woman. Right now she has a lot going for her. How many other women have achieved their goals so early? If she can do it at 17, more power to her.

Stuart Long, Cranbury, plumber's helper: No good. She's too scraggy. Theres no meat to her; she'd be all right if she had 60 or 70 more pounds.

Brandon Iselin, 31 Humbert Street, PHS senior: Twiggy? I think she's cool. I think her face and eyes make her look quite attractive. They follow the modern trend. A lot of people say it's only makeup but I don't think it is.

Miss Linda Meyers, Cranbury, graduate student, Columbia Teachers College: I think she is horribly ugly. She's all skin and bones.

John Valentine, 105 Dodds Lane, student, Duke University: I think she is a really cute boy. I think she'll die out if she doesn't dry up in about a year. This is an experienced opinion as I've just spent a year in England. She's much more popular in America than in England. She is more like a fad here.

Mrs. Phyllis Schanck, Ringoes, bookkeeper, Princeton Bank: I think she's cute, very cute. She doesn't seem too show-offy; she seems like a sensible person — at least from what I've read about her.

Miss Beverly Weial, Bound Brook, research assistant, Psychology Department, Princeton University: I think she's great, personally. She has a lot of appeal to the younger people. She looks undernourished, like she needs help and I guess the best way to do that is to buy her clothes. I like her looks, her big eyes — a look of innocence. It's a good image. I think it came at a very good time. I think the people want this. We need some innocence, today, considering the mess the world is in.

John Wilson

SPORTS in Princeton

JOHN WILSON RESIGNS

Hockey Coach Leaves. For the second time in less than two years, Princeton University is in search of a hockey coach. John Wilson, the one-time NHL forward who came here in the fall of 1965 to replace Norm Wood, has resigned to accept a position as general manager and coach of the Springfield Indians.

Wilson's decision to leave came as a complete surprise to University officials, and confronts them with the need to find a replacement by the start of the fall term in September. Hockey practice begins informally in early October, with the coach and his squad starting regular sessions on November 1.

Springfield operates in the eastern division of the American Hockey League. Intriguingly, it is the property of the same syndicate which owns the Los Angeles Lakers in the National Basketball Association.

It was the Lakers who removed Bill van Breda Kolff, Princeton's highly-successful coach, from Dillon Gym earlier this season. As was the case with van Breda Kolff, Wilson is understood to have received such an attractive salary offer that he could not afford to turn it down.

Canadian-Born. A native of Kilcardine, Ontario, Wilson played for 12 seasons in the NHL, serving with four (Detroit, Chicago, Toronto, New York) of the league's six teams. He played on three of the Red Wings Stanley Cup teams and at the end of his career held an NHL record of seeing action in 580 consecutive games.

A respected coach in Canada's Senior Hockey League, Wilson achieved unanticipated success in his first season here when he steered Princeton to a third place finish in the Ivy League despite an overall 6-12-1 mark. Balance and some depth exist on the current squad, which had hopes of bettering last winter's 7-14 record until the coaching disruption occurred.

Among the candidates who will receive consideration as Wilson's successor is Mike Karin, a Middlebury alumnus who has been freshman coach here. Karin is heading into his fifth season at Princeton.

HOCKEY SCHEDULE SET

Tigers Will Play 24 Games. The addition of Pennsylvania to the Ivy Hockey League will increase Princeton's games in the circuit to 12 next winter. A 24-game schedule has been announced for the Orange and Black skaters.

The Tigers will open on December 2 against Colgate in Baker Rink. Their earliest league action in history is set for December 13 when they play Harvard on the Crimson's Watson Rink and they will remain in the Boston area to enter the ECAC Tournament there on the 15th and 16th.

Captain John Ritchie will take aim on a record better than the 7-14 mark which the Tigers wrote into the books last season. Their 4-6 rating in Ivy action pegged them fifth in the standings.

The schedule:

Dec. 1, St. Nick's H. C. (exhibition); 2, Colgate; 6, Army; 8, Northeastern; 13, Harvard (*) at Cambridge; 15-16, ECAC Tournament at Boston.

Jan 2, St. Lawrence at Canton; 3, Clarkson at Potsdam; 5, Boston College at Chestnut Hill; 12, Providence at Providence; 13, Brown () at Providence; 26 Dartmouth (); 31, Boston University at Boston.

Feb. 1, RPI at Troy; 3, Yale (); 7, Cornell () at Ithaca; 10, Harvard (); 14, Pennsylvania (); 17, Yale () at New Haven; 21, Brown (); 24, Dartmouth () at Hanover; 28, Pennsylvania () at Philadelphia.

Mar. 2, Cornell (*).

* Ivy League Game.

NAVY BEATS RED, 7-3

For 2-0 Lacrosse Record. Led by Dick Pavelec's four goals, Navy defeated Red, 7-3, last week in the Summer Lacrosse League to remain unbeaten in two games.

Gordon Hart added two more goals and John Pettit one to complete the Navy scoring. For the losers, Dave Leete scored two goals and Tom Falcey one.

In the evening's other contest, Green won its first of the seven week season, posting a 7-3 victory over Blue.

Mike Merritt and Terry Marzoni each tallied two goals apiece for Green, while Bob Ridolphi, John Marchitell, and Dale Baldwin scored single tallies. Coley Donaldson's pair of goals led the Blue offense. Mark Andrews added a single goal.

Games are played every Thursday at Marquand Park, starting at 5:30 p.m.

CREW CAPTAIN: Peter Raymond of Cherry Valley Road has been elected captain of the Princeton crew for 1968.

RAYMOND CREW CAPTAIN

Stroke Oar Chosen. Peter H. Raymond has been elected to captain Princeton University's varsity crew next year. He is the son of MacPheson Raymond, a member of the Class of 1940, and Mrs. Raymond of Cherry Valley Road.

Operating the stroke oar for the past two seasons, Raymond moved into the starting eight for his first race as a sophomore. In the past two seasons, the Tiger varsity has won ten races while losing seven. In the national regatta at Syracuse, the Orange and Black was fourth last June and third in 1966.

An alumnus of South Kent, Raymond captained the freshman crew here. He also played hockey in his first year at Princeton.

GOOD SEATS AVAILABLE

For Giants-Eagles Clash. Plenty of good seats still remain in the $5.50 and $3.50 range for the sixth annual Jaycee football classic between the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles on Saturday, September 2, in Palmer Stadium, according to the Jaycees.

The Giants will feature their newly-acquired quarterback Fran Tarkenton, while the Eagles will put a couple of new pass receivers on display, Mike Dikta and Gary Ballman. The game will be the first of only two meetings between the two teams this season, because the new schedule does not send the Giants to Philadelphia.

Tickets may be bought at the Giants and Eagles ticket offices and Bambergers, any Jaycee chapter, or by writing the Jaycee Football Classic, P. O. Box 324, Princeton.

INDOOR TENNIS DUE

In September. Mercer County's new indoor tennis center should be ready for public use during the month of September, according to Freeholder Richard J. Coffee, president of the County's Park Commission.

If finished in time the center will be opened to the public free of charge for two or three weeks before the regular season begins, October 1.

Current plans call for hooking three of the six courts for seasonal use by selling 90-minute periods in advance. The remaining three courts will be available on a first-come first-served, pay-as-you-play basis.

The Park Commission is compiling a brochure, which will be available in about 30 days, listing fees, and operations of the facility. Construction progress is on schedule so far.

TWO GAMES ON TAP

For West Windsor All-Stars. The West Windsor Babe Ruth League will be host this week end for two of the opening all star games in the District 16 tournament for 13-year-olds.

On Saturday, the West Windsor all-stars will meet the Hamilton Nationals at 1:30 on their home diamond at the Dutch Neck School. On Sunday, on the same diamond, the West Windsor team will oppose either the winner or the loser of Saurday's contest between Mt. Holly and South Trenton.

Members of the West Windsor all star squad are Ben Love, John Schumacher, Frank Stiefel, Larry Fowler, Lance Marshall, Doug Everett, Dave

He Was Fishing for Blues, and Caught a 250-Pounder

When you're with your dad fishing for Blues in "The Mud Hole" off Point Pleasant and you catch a 250-lb., eight-foot blue shark on a 30 lb test line and you're only 13 — well that ought to be good for retelling for a long time to come.

The unexpected catch was landed last week by David Horowitz, son of Dr. and Mrs. Milton Horowitz of Princeton Pike. After Dave had played with the shark for almost a half-hour, the captain of the commercial fishing boat he was on came along to lend a hand. "I thought my arms were going to drop off," said Dave.

The shark was lassoed head and tail and tied to the side of the boat. Later, Dave sold it for $5 to a man on the boat who said he intended to eat it.

The shark was the biggest catch Dave ever made in the half-dozen years he has been fishing.

Junior players from John J. Conroy's advanced classes were victorious last week in matches with the Germantown Cricket Club and the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

Others played in an informal exchange match at the University Courts with junior players from Bucks County. CARBON CLINCHES TIE

For BSL Division Title. Notching its 13th consecutive win in as many games, powerful Columbian Carbon clinched at least a tie for the western division crown in the Business Softball League Monday night.

Columbian Carbon gained assurance of at least a share of first place by defeating its closest pursuer, RCA A, Monday evening, 6 to 3, as Bill Gahagan tossed a five-hitter.

Al Rizzer's two-run triple in the bottom of the sixth provided valuable insurance, raising the victors' margin to 6-1. RCA then pushed across two in the top of the seventh before bowing out. John Klos of the winners homered.

Last week, Carbon knocked off Shell Chemical, 9-3, giving Shell its third loss. Carbon must lose all three of its remaining games and either RCA A or Shell must win all of theirs to produce a tie. However since two of Carbon's contests are against FMC and Opinion Research, neither of which has won a game this season, the chances of a stalemate are slim.

In the triumph over Shell Jim Chiorello, Alex Golembeski, Jim Weidenhafer and Ralph Liccardo had two hits apiece. Bill Cruse and Ron Collins collected two hits each for Shell.

In eastern division action, McGraw-Hill blasted EMR, 22-2, with Mike Sommerschuh slamming out five hits and Joe Simone, four. Duncan Kennedy hit his sixth round tripper of the year for EMR. The win was McGraw-Hill's eighth of the season.

Marty Zembrowski's sixth inning triple and Bob Oehrle's grand slam pushed ERC by RCA B, 10-9. RCA outhit ERC, but could not get the big blow to win the grame.

In other action, American Cyanamid shutout FMC, 4-0. ETS picked up its fifth win in place of its contest with WTS Pharmacraft, which has been dropped from the league.

NO. 1 HOLDS SLIM LEAD

In PBA League. For the first time this season, a team has sole possession of first place in the PBA Baseball League.

Engine No. 1 became king of the hill and it did so without firing a single pitch — when its game with Post 76 was rained out and the Eagles forfeited. The Eagle forfeit cancelled a scheduled duel between no hit pitchers Kevin Tylus of the Eagles and Bobby ing of No. 1.

By gaining a split in two outings, Engine No. 3 remained a half game back. Behind the pitching of John Mooney, No. 3 eked out a 1-0 victory over the Elks. Mark Baldwin, Rick Giamo, Mark Jeffries and Kevin Smith accounted for the victors' four hits.

Elk hurler Glenn Goethals fanned 11 but he received weak support at the plate where his teammates were held to a pair of hits, one by Breezy Boccanfuso and the second by Chris Bauman.

In its next outing, No. 3 was the victim of a 6-2 upset by Italian-American Sportsmen.

George Barna struck out 11 in pitching a four-hitter for the winners. Don Seitz rapped out two hits and Don Pirone knocked in two runs for the Sportsmen.

Roma Eterna on Streak. Meanwhile, Roma Eterna, after losing its first four made it four straight wins with 10-2 and 6-2 victories over the Eagles and Elks.

In that rout of the Eagles, Joe McGuinn and Chris Grazel each had two hits in three at bats, with one of McGuinn's hits a homer. McGuinn and Larry Miller shared the pitching for Eterna, limiting the Eagles to two hits.

Miller and Mark Richards then combined for a four-hitter against the Elks, recording 11 strike outs in their tandem effort. McGuinn continued his hot streak at the plate. He had three hits in three appearances, including a double, while teammate Grazel chipped in with a triple.

Boccanfuso's double and triple accounted for half of the Elks' hits.

Brian Smith went the distance and Andy Bolster and Steve Kopp combined for three hits to lead Hook & Ladder to a 7-6 victory over Post 76. Smith fanned nine and walked only three.

For the losers, Tony Bailey went two-for-three, including a home run.

In addition to the Eagle forfeit to No. 1 last week, there was another: Hook & Ladder forfeited to the Sportsmen. Both games were recorded as automatic 6-0 victories.

The standings:

News Of The CHURCHES

MORE CATHOLICS

Fewer Nuns and Schools. The Roman Catholic population in the eight county Trenton Diocese reached a new high of 651,218 in 1966, according to figures released by the Official Catholic Directory. The increase of 27,081 covers 188 parishes and 29 missions.

There were 467 diocesan and religious priests last year, compared to 480 the year before.

Nationally, the report shows fewer nuns, fewer schools, fewer students, fewer converts and fewer babies baptised than in the previous year. The total Catholic population increased 618,735 to 48,864,910 or 23.6 percent of the total United States population. The number of priests, now 59,892, is an all-time high, while the 176,671 sisters reported represents a drop of 4,760.

The statistics, compiled from reports of diocesan and religious order officials throughout the nation, reveals several trends, particularly in education.

The number of educational institutions continued to go down, losing 110 for a total of 14,148 with the greatest losses felt by diocesan and parish high schools and parish elementary schools.

For the 14th straight year, the number of college students increased, with 17,089 more for a total of 431,070. But the number of students in Roman Catholic elementary and secondary schools dropped by 93,674. More of the teachers are laymen 168 percent more than 10 years ago.

Our birthday gift to you....
The Princeton Portfolio

Fifty years ago, in 1917, Princeton was a much different town, rustic and small. That was the town that watched the formation of the Princeton Building and Loan. Since that time, the Building and Loan, now the Princeton Savings and Loan, has served it's community and grown with it.

It seems fitting that we should celebrate our fiftieth birthday with a gift to Princetonites about Princeton. The gift we chose reflects our town because for half a century that has been our sole interest.

Stop in soon and allow us to present you with a copy of the "Princeton Portfolio". It contains a series of long-ago Princeton photographs, antique tinted and ready for framing.

While you're here, spend a few minutes browsing over the Historical Society's display of many more old time photos. The display is in our lobby and is open to all. See you soon.

The GREATEST . . . BEST . . . FASTEST . . . How many times have you seen and heard these words in ads selling service . . . we admit, we've used them ourselves. But we have found that you can't sell a service with superlatives! We simply say that we think our TV Repair Service is merely better than adequate . . . it's only GOOD.

We have trained, competent technicians with years of experience in their profession to back that statement.

And most of all, we have many satisfied customers . . . which is, after all, our ultimate goal!

Do us a service . . . call 921-8500 today so that we may serve you!

The Rock of Gibralter would best describe this English Tudor home built in those years (1929) when quality rather than just quantity was incorporated into every house from its solid foundation to its slate roof. Yet, it incorporates ideas of today in a formal entry, large living room with fireplace, separate dining room, study or breakfast room, and pleasant kitchen. OH yes! a large screened porch. The second floor — 4 bedrooms + bath. The third floor — 2 bedrooms + bath. To all this add a 2 car garage and beautifully treed 100' x 200' lot. All this and Princeton too. $36,900
